

GEORGIA CATTLEWOMEN'S ASSOCIATION REPORT

The pandemic presented many challenges during 2020. Due to the changing landscape of COVID the Cattle women were only able to be present at one AG/farm day as others were cancelled to prevent the spread of infection. The Cattlewomen had the pleasure of attending Ag/Farm day at Miller County School System. The event was hosted outside due to COVID restrictions. Several students learned about beef, beef by-products, beef nutrition, and the origination of food. The Georgia Beef Board provided handouts with word searches and coloring books for students. Teachers were provided with copies of cook books full of delicious and nutritious recipes.

GCWA awarded the 2020 scholarship to Rachel Hopper from Pitts, GA. Theresa Molle presented her with the award in May at Rachel's home with her family present.

At the Georgia Junior Beef Futurity in July, the GCWA provided belt buckles for showmanship to the 4th -12th grade winners.

Last September, the GCWA provided $100 grants to 3 organizations to purchase beef products which helps the organizations to feed the hungry in Georgia. The 2021 Cattle Drive for Hunger application is on the GCWA's web page. Please share the application with any food pantry, soup kitchen, church or organization so they may apply.

The GCWA now hosts an active social media presence. The Facebook page provides updates and information all year of upcoming events. The Cattlewomen now may also be found on Instagram, YouTube, and Twitter. Find our pages, like or follow us, and watch for updates.

Many thanks to Katie Williams, Jennifer Scott and Theresa Molle for the many hours spent updating our new and revised website. The website is easier to navigate and hosts links to each of the social media platforms along with applications for scholarships, membership, and other helpful resources.
